Frankfort Fire Dist. Seeks Views On Fire House Issue

Undiscouraged by two defeats of a proposed bond issue to erect quarters to house the equipment of the volunteer fire department, the trustees of the Frankfort fire protection district plan a public meeting to discuss the proposal in detail.

The meeting is scheduled for 8 p.m. Oct. 14 at the Frankfort grade school.

All persons interested, whether they favor or oppose the improvement, are urged by the trustees to attend. The trustees are, Herbert J. Lambrecht, Albert Swatek and Harold Scheer.

The Frankfort fire protection district is a governmental body with authority to issue bonds to build a fire station but such bonds must first be approved by the voters of the district.

The department now uses a part of the Frankfort village hall but the quarters there are not large enough to accommodate all of the equipment, it was explained.

That the fire protection district officials will call another referendum on the fire house question is apparent from the announcement that they plan a public meeting to discuss the issue.

The three trustees issued a statement this week outlining the situation:

"As you all are aware by this time," the statement reads, "the bond issue for $65,000 to purchase land and build a fire house has again been defeated by the voters."

"The trustees feel that either they have not made everything clear, or the taxpayers feel we do not need a proper place to house our equipment. We have equipment worth $40,000 that should be housed so in case of a call the fire department can get the equipment started. Our water truck stands out in the weather and when a fire call comes in the truck must be started and then filled with water. Such loss of time could mean the loss of a building or a life."

"We hear people say they have insurance to cover their losses, but have we? If we can bring our district up one class in protection outside the village limits it would mean a saving of $3 to $4 per year on a home insured for $10,000. These things are possible only if we meet the Illinois inspection rules, which can be done with proper housing and equipment of our department."

"Another statement was made that we could purchase the Sink Top building for $35,000. This was an error as the price was $40,000 plus cost of removal of the old building and remodeling which would have brought the cost to $65,000."

"It was then decided to have the architect figure out a new building that could be built for $65,000, including the price of the land, that would meet inspection rules.

"We believe that most of the people feel that we need a new building but feel that taxes may be out of line. The taxes on the average home will be about $1 a year more and on the average farm about $4 per year. As the valuation of the district increases our taxes will decrease."

"We understand that at the last election people were called and told to vote No, and when they asked why, got no explanation. "We have called two elections which cost us over $600 each. We feel that such a sum would buy a lot of protection in the line of equipment for our unpaid firemen who are on call 24 hours a day in all kinds of weather."

"We will call a meeting for all interested parties, for or against a bond issue. This meeting is to be held at 8 p.m. Oct. 14 in the Frankfort public school. Let's all attend this meeting and express our views, either for or against, and we may all learn something."

Henry J. Bettenhausen, Tinley Merchant, Dies

Henry J. Bettenhausen, 68, of 6822 W. 173rd pl., a Tinley Park merchant and contractor for over 30 years, died Saturday, Sept. 28, at Silver Cross hospital, Joliet, following a brief illness.

He was born March 27, 1895 in Frankfort and was engaged as a general contractor before opening the Bettenhausen Hardware Company, at 17344 Oak Park ave., of which he was the president. He and the former Ruth Marti of Frankfort were married in December, 1921.

The business is a family enterprise in which the widow, Ruth, and their four children have been active. For the past three years, although semi-retired and living in their home in Florida part of the time, Mr. Bettenhausen continued to be active in the business and in civic functions.

He was very well-known in this area for his many civic activities, which included two terms as a village trustee, active membership in the Chamber of Commerce, the Recreation Commission, and in the Tinley Park Methodist church. He was a charter member of the former Tinley Park Businessmen's Association. For many years he acted as chairman of the Recreation Commission's annual fall festival.

Mr. Bettenhausen was also very active in the Masonic Order. He held membership in the Calumet Lodge 716 A.F. & A.M., the Ancient Accepted Scottish Rites Valley of Chicago, the Medinah Temple, A.A. O.N.M.S., Chicago South Suburban Shrine club; and was an honorary member of the West Suburban Shrine club.

Besides the widow, Ruth, nee Marti, originally of Frankfort, he is survived by four children; a daughter, Marie Stege; three sons, Milfred, Robert, and Henry A., his mother, Mrs. Anna Bettenhausen; and eight grandchildren, all of Tinley Park; and two brothers, August, of Oak Forest; and Emil, of Tinley Park. He was preceded in death by a brother, John, in 1961.

Funeral services for Mr. Bettenhausen were held Tuesday, Oct. 1, from the Hirsch Memorial Chapel, Tinley Park. The Rev. Kenneth Crandall, pastor of the Methodist church, officiated.

Masonic services were held at the chapel Monday night and at the graveside Tuesday, under the auspices of the Calumet Lodge.

Chilean To Study Farming Savers In Tinley S & L Get Checks This Week

A Chilean agriculture teacher, 27-year-old Guillermo (William) Gutierrez, is a guest in the farm home of the Raymond Bernards, 179th st., east of Wolf road, north of Mokena.

His visit here is part of the farmer to farmer project originated and paid for by the Cook County Farm Bureau as a means to improve international relations thru the exchange of ideas.

The visitor from Chile is country bred. His father owns and operates what is known in Chile as an "average farm" but which is of small acreage when considered by U.S. standards. The son elected to become a teacher instead of a farmer but he is teaching agriculture.

His home is in the southern part of Chile and he has three sisters and a brother, all younger than he. He has been in the United States since June and plans to be in this country until next June.

In the course of the year he expects to visit various types of farms and observe the methods by which the operators meet various problems.

LOUIS M. BERTANI

Bertani GOP Candidate For State's Attorney

In a letter addressed to the Republican precinct committeemen of Will county, Louis R. Bertani today announced his candidacy for the office of state's attorney of Will county.

Bertani is a partner in the law firm of Krusemark and Bertani with offices at 68 North Chicago st., Joliet.

In announcing his candidacy, Bertani informed the committeemen that his qualifications generally are based on his success as a trial lawyer, with extensive experience in the criminal field. He also called the committeemen's attention to the fact that he had served on the Joliet grade school board, with one year as its president, so that he was familiar with the administrative duties of the office of state's attorney insofar as they apply to being the attorney for many elected officials.

Politically, Bertani called attention to the fact that he had served as a Republican committeemen and a member of the executive committee of that party. Also, he had held national, state and local offices in the Republican organization.

Professionally, he is a member of the American, Illinois and Will County Bar Associations, having served a term as president of the Will county association. He has been active in charitable, civic and church affairs.

Bertani is 35 years of age, was born in Joliet, educated in its public school system and a graduate of De Paul university. After his admission to the bar, he commenced his legal practice in Joliet as an associate of the late James E. Burke, a former state's attorney of Will county. He then became associated with Albert Krusemark and a partnership was soon formed.

He is married to the former Doris Agazzi, they have seven children and reside at 508 Western Avenue, Joliet.

Further in announcing his candidacy, Bertani said he believed that 1964 would be a crucial year for the Republican party not only nationally but locally as well. He promised a vigorous campaign with a positive program to carry out in the office he seeks.

Sentence Gunmen For Orland Tavern Hold-up

The two shotgun bandits who robbed operators and patrons of the Village Inn, Orland Park, around midnight of last June 13, were sentenced to three to eight years. His companion, Andrew Kieta, 21, Worth township, was given a two to five years sentence. They pleaded guilty to armed robbery.

One of the bandits, Arthur Larken, 22, Hickory Hills, a parolee from California, was sentenced to three to eight years. His companion, Andrew Kieta, 21, Worth township, was given a two to five years sentence. They pleaded guilty to armed robbery.

In the course of the robbery the bandits fired three shots, wounding two of the patrons slightly.

According to Police Commissioner Frank Guetter, of Orland Park, the bandits took approximately $900 in money, as well as a quantity of cigars and whiskey. The loot was recovered by Orland Park police who had the pair under arrest within 19 hours after the robbery.

"I want to commend the Orland Park police for the efficient and rapid manner in which the investigation was conducted," Judge Fiedler told Commissioner Guetter, "and the case brought to a successful conclusion."

Commissioner Guetter told the judge that considerable credit should go to the office of Secretary of State Charles Carpenter for the assistance given his department. Orland Park police had a partial car license number as their leading clue. The secretary of state's office quickly scanned their records and came up with 57 possible plates that would include the numerals police had. Thru elimination a plate was finally traced to Kieta. When police went to his home they found the guns and the loot. Kieta admitted his part in the hold-up and implicated Larken who also confessed. Both claimed they were drunk.

In the course of the robbery the bandits invited the customers in the place to have a drink. After they had been served the gunmen proceeded to rob the patrons.

The pair drove off after locking the customers and the tavern operators in a beer cooler in the basement.

Christmas Seal Sale In Will Co. Opens Nov. 15

Robert P. Blatchley, D.D.S., has been named chairman of the 1963 Christmas Seal Campaign, to be launched Nov. 15 by the Will County Tuberculosis Association.

The appointment was announced today by Mrs. Earl G. Keniston, president of the Association. In a statement emphasizing the reasons for the choice, she said, "During the coming year, more than ever in the past, our counterattack against this disease will focus on the entire spectrum of tuberculosis and all its implications to the patient, his family and our community. The job of finding TB is becoming more difficult as the population grows and moves about from area to area. We must maintain our present program, and also expand to meet this new challenge."

"To help us meet that challenge, the importance of this year's Christmas Seal Campaign must be clearly emphasized to every member of our community. We feel that Dr. Blatchley is eminently qualified to fulfill that task, and have complete confidence in a record outcome of the drive under his direction."

Dr. Blatchley was born and raised in Joliet and attended Joliet township high school and Joliet Junior college. He is a graduate of the University of Illinois with a major in chemistry. In 1940, Dr. Blatchley graduated from the University of Illinois dental school. Following a year and a half of externship at the Illinois Eye and Ear Infirmary and a year of residency at Cook County hospital of oral and plastic surgery, Dr. Blatchley joined the U.S. Army. While in the army he served with the 27th and 95th Evacuation Hospital in North Africa, Italy, France and Germany. Returning to Joliet, Dr. Blatchley began private practice in Joliet in 1946.

Dr. Blatchley's interest in community programs has been great. He has served on the majority of local campaigns. He participated in the hospital building drives for Silver Cross and St. Joseph's and has been an active staff member at both hospitals for the past 16 years.

A used toy shower will be given at the October meeting of the club to supplement the present supply of toys at the Happy Hour Kindergarten. Mrs. Robert Watson, teacher, has been asked what type of toys are needed and the following list was submitted by her: balls six to ten inches in diameter; bean bags, doll clothes and doll blankets, old clothes, hats, shoes and accessories for playing house; housekeeping toys such as children's dishes, pots, pans, doll broom, sink, stove; also used games; Lotto, Dominos, puzzles, heavy cardboard or wooden educational toys.

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury CHEVROLET

Besides looks, ride and power - what's so special about it?
(it's so reasonably priced)

Kind of leaves the high-priced cars some explaining to do, wouldn't you say? Long and luxurious—with a fresh-looked. Richer roomy interiors with subtle new blendings of colors and fabrics. Like the ultra-soft vinyl upholstery in the new Chevrolet Impala Super Sport Series.

A choice of seven engines, no less, with output all the way up to 425 hp.* And a choice of four smooth transmissions to go with them.

And underlying it all, the opulent feel of this '64 Chevrolet's Jet-smooth ride.

Matter of fact, the most noticeable difference between this beautiful new 1964 Chevrolet and the high-priced cars is the price itself.

Let your dealer show you how much luxury that reasonable Chevrolet price now buys.

Honor Former Teacher At Cherry Hill Dedication

The new Cherry Hill school which is a part of the New Lenox system, was dedicated at ceremonies Sunday in honor of Mrs. Alma Thornburg of Joliet. Mrs. Thornburg has been a teacher for 52 years, most of them having been spent at Cherry Hill or its predecessor, the Gougar school.

Thus last Sunday was the greatest day in her life, Mrs. Thornburg said, and she expressed her gratitude to the parents and children of the district for the honor given her.

Area residents and former pupils presented the plaque which is fixed to the wall inside the front door. It is inscribed: "Cherry Hill School dedicated to Alma Lee Thornburg in recognition of her great love for children and in honor of her more than fifty years of devoted service to their education."

The guest of honor was presented to the audience by Ralph Murphy, Joliet attorney who is a resident of Cherry Hill. He recalled that he had presided on the occasion when she was presented with a certificate signed by all the residents of the area when she had reached her 50th milestone as a teacher and was master of ceremonies at a dinner given her two years ago when she retired.

"She has carved a special place in the heart of everyone of us," Murphy said. "She taught but never stopped studying. She kept up with modern methods, adopting what she thought was good but flatly rejecting what she felt was bad. She inspired children to learn and they gave her absolute obedience and devotion."

Harlow Jensen, a member of the New Lenox grade school board, dedicated the building to Mrs. Thornburg.

Others on the program included New Lenox school superintendent, Arnold W. Tyler; Boyd Buchar, assistant county superintendent of schools; John B. Anderson, Jr., vice president of the school board, and Scott Bigelow, the architect.

New Lenox post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, presented a flag to the school and the New Lenox grade school band played the Star Spangled Banner. The invocation was given by the Rev. Louis Diethelm, O.F.M., pastor of St. Jude's church, and the benediction was pronounced by The Rev. Glenn Ames, pastor of the New Lenox Methodist church.

Refreshments were served by the New Lenox PTA.

The school is located on a five-acre site, has six rooms and can be easily expanded east and west. Robert C. Regan Construction Co., built the school at a cost of $78,000 or $10.79 a square foot. Total cost, including the site and other items, was $100,000.

Record Turnout Marks Initial PTA Meeting

It was "standing room only" at the first meeting of the Mokena PTA held at Carpenter Street School Tuesday, Sept. 24. President Gordon Richards expressed his delight over the record turnout and introduced his officers and board members.

Officers are: Vice president, Mrs. Elaine Thomas, secretary Mrs. LaJoy Booble, and treasurer, Bob DeForest. Committee chairmen introduced were as follows: Mrs. Vivian DeVito and Mrs. Marilyn Braeuning, hospitality; Mrs. Marcia Miller publicity; Mrs. Lois Shewski and Mrs. Dolores Barentz, membership; Ralph Thompson, ways and means, and Mrs. Don Guendling, room mothers.

A record number of 102 PTA memberships were sold before the meeting, getting next month's membership campaign off to a good start. The membership committee will announce plans soon for the October membership drive.

Duplicate room awards were given to a tie between Mrs. McGuire's first grade room at Willow Crest and Mrs. Jackson's sixth grade room at Carpenter Street. Both rooms will display the winner's emblem.

Following the short business meeting, Supt. James Ennis made a few short remarks concerning his philosophy about homework for pupils in grades one through eight. Basically Ennis feels homework is helpful when it is used for absence-make-up, brushing up on old skills, practicing newly acquired skills and completing work not finished in class.

Homework is not desirable, he declared, when it is used for doing extra work not covered in class, work not understood in class and for punishment. He believes not more than 20 minutes should be required for each subject in one evening and that homework should not be assigned every night in the week. He invited parents who had problems about homework to discuss them with him privately.

The meeting was adjourned promptly, and parents and teachers enjoyed an informal coffee hour in the gym. All agreed that the masculine touch was an interesting innovation for the Mokena PTA.

PRESIDENTS REPORT

Reprinted From Statement Of
Condition As Of July 31, 1963

The fiscal year ending July 31, 1963, was a year of continuous growth and progress. It is indeed a pleasure for me, as President, to make known our results and achievements.

The assets have grown to $20,504,253.71, and during the year we had a net gain of over 2100 individual savings accounts. Earnings in the amount of $534,868.12 were paid to savers this past year.

Our Association's practice of investing its funds in well-secured residential and apartmental properties has proved to be an additional safety factor for all our savers. During the year the Association did not experience a loss on any mortgage in its portfolio. Our Association has not made a mortgage on any land development projects or speculative subdivision projects.

During the past year, the Association again doubled its net income over the previous year. After paying earnings to all its savers and after all expenses, the Association transferred over $250,000 to reserves and undivided profits accounts.

Our record of growth, performance and stability has been accomplished by hard work, a high regard for the basic law of economics and leadership that regards the need for God's blessings and guidance. We are aware of the great potential in this metropolitan area and look forward to an even greater year.

Our thanks to all who played a part in enabling us to achieve this record.

HOURS: MONDAY-THURSDAY 9 A.M. TO 4:30 P.M. WEDNESDAY AND SATURDAY 9 A.M. TO NOON TUESDAY-FRIDAY 9 A.M. TO 8 P.M.

A SWITCH HERE -- Sandburg's No. 62 Mike Bielic who is credited with turning in a perfect game defensively last Saturday -- and one doesn't often hear such words from coaches -- is shown here on the offensive. Bielic is a linebacker, and a good one as his opponents will testify. Coming in on him is Joe Wajchert and that No. 12 man for Lincoln-Way is Larry Resutko. Sandburg's No. 84 is John Capodice.

A FAMILIAR SIGHT to Lincoln-Way gridders last Saturday was this rear view look at No. 40 of the Sandburg squad is a familiar sight to many teams as far as that is concerned, for No. 40 is Ernie Sharpe, an all-state half back who is expected to repeat for the honors this year. Lockport had Sharpe pretty well contained in the season's opener but since then he has been running high, wide and handsome. He wound up making 22 of his teams 34 points against Lincoln-Way. In pursuit here were Larry Resutko (12) and Nicholson (81).

THERE HE COMES often becomes there he goes when Sandburg's all-state half back Ernie Sharpe is carrying the ball. In this instance Larry Resutko, No. 12, tries for a leg hold on the elusive Sharpe but the later slipped away. This time he failed to make the goal line. Lutkow slowed him enough for his teammates to waylay the Eagles ace.

Sandburg Beats Knights, Bremen Is Next Foe

By MARVIN MILLER
Fresh from their 34-0 romp over the Lincoln-Way Knights, the Eagles of Carl Sandburg prepare to invade the home territory of the Bremen eleven in their quest for the Southwest Suburban crown. With two wins and no losses in conference play, the game shapes up as an important contest, if championship hopes are to be kept alive.

Highlight of the free-scoring rout came when junior Eagle quarterback George Davidson discovered that his team, poised at the Lincoln-Way three yard line, lacked a center. Kroll quickly bent over the ball and centered it to fullback Marvin Blummer who pitched to Gordon Bell who smashed thru the line for a TD. The varsity tilt started out with a bang when the Eagles punched the ball across the Lincoln-Way goal in the first three plays of the game.

Taking the opening kickoff on his own 15, Mike Bielic returned it 52 yards before being downed on the Knights 33 yard line. On the next play, a pass from quarterback Pat Heniff to John Capodice went incomplete. Fullback Ernie Sharpe drove to the Knights 10 on third down and then punched across for the touchdown on the next play. With McHenry holding, Sharpe booted the conversion. This set the pattern for the afternoon. The Eagles, taking advantage of the sure-footed, nimble-fingered work of all-star

Ernie Sharpe, who piled up 161 yards in 14 carries, where not to be denied. The Eagles scored twice in the second quarter, both times on passes by Heniff. Just after the period opened, Heniff and end John Capodice teamed up on an eight-yard pass play for a score. Three plays later, 220-pound end Jim Leatzow snapped up a Lincoln-Way fumble thirty yards away from paydirt. In the next four plays, Sharpe dashed to the nine yard line, Leatzow capped the drive by pulling in Heniff's pass for the TD, Sharpe booted both conversions. In the third quarter, the Eagles struck twice more, with Sharpe scoring both times. The half began with Sandburg kicking to the Knights. When their drive stalled after two first downs, the Eagles put the ball into play on their own 46, where it rolled dead on the punt. On their first offensive play in the quarter, the Eagles sent Sharpe thru the line for the touchdown. The extra point was no good. The Knights, unable to make a first down on the next series of plays, booted again. On the next play, Heniff and Sharpe paired up for the Eagle's final TD. The rest of the game, in which most of the Eagles saw action, was played out with no score. The Knights mounted no serious scoring threat thru the game. The Eagles, turning a total offense of 233 yards while holding the Knights to 42, completely dominated the game. On the ground, they gained 195 yards rushing, but lost 95 in penalties. Heniff connected with four of eight passes for a total of 114 yards thru the air. The Eagles piled up 12 first downs, the Knights four, two of which came on penalties. Game time Saturday is 2 p.m. at Bremen, with the sophomore team kicking off at 12:15.

WORDS OF ADVICE are being given here to Pat Heniff by Sandburg's coach, Joe Devine, before sending him into the fray last Saturday. Heniff figured in several scoring plays and the Eagles walloped Lincoln-Way 34 to 0.

TINLEY PARK 532-4369
Dry weather in many sections of Illinois this spring and summer may have increased the danger from poisonous gases in upright silos during and after filling. The most dangerous silo gas is nitrogen dioxide, a yellowish-brown, heavier-than-air gas that tends to collect just above chopped silage. Nitrogen dioxide is extremely harmful to persons breathing it and is responsible for a number of deaths each year.

The gas is most likely to form in a silo containing corn raised during drought conditions, making it more dangerous than usual in many parts of the state. Nitrogen dioxide gas can cause silo fillers' disease, a combination of severe chest pains and coughing and a burning sensation in the throat and chest. Immediate medical treatment is essential when the gas is inhaled.

Carbon dioxide is another dangerous gas that may form from chopped forage fermenting inside a silo. This gas is colorless and odorless. It is especially dangerous when the filling operation has stopped for several hours or overnight. Carbon dioxide tends to accumulate just above the chopped silage and can cause death from suffocation.

NOTE THESE GUIDES for protection against silo gases: (1) Run the blower for 10 to 15 minutes before entering a partly filled silo, and keep it running while you are in the silo. (2) Let silage build up before replacing silo doors. (3) Watch for yellowish-brown fumes. (4) Keep children and animals away from the silo during and after filling. (5) Don't enter the silo for at least seven to ten days after it is filled.

The nitrogen-fertilizing program you use on your wheat crop greatly affects the yields - and profits - from your crop. So apply nitrogen as needed. It can also affect the alfalfa or clover seeded in your wheat. Wheat responds to extra nitrogen up to the point where lodging occurs. And new stiff-strawed varieties "take" more nitrogen before lodging than older varieties. Nitrogen boosts yields most on the light-colored soils of southern and southeastern Illinois. Coarse-textured sands and sandy and gravelly loams also need extra nitrogen, since nitrates leach through such soils. You may apply nitrogen either this fall or in the spring - or both. The "right" time depends mostly on your soil. Wheat needs some nitrogen in the fall, but the total uptake by plants and roots usually won't exceed 40 pounds per acre. Most DARK Illinois prairie soils can supply this much.

On light-colored soils, use a fertilizer with a nitrogen-to-phosphate ratio between 1:2 and 1:5. You can apply it as a mixed fertilizer or you can broadcast the nitrogen first and then drill the phosphorus with the wheat.

On claypan soils, where little leaching occurs, you can apply all of your nitrogen this fall and avoid spring topdressing. Responses from fall-applied nitrogen average one to two bushels below those of spring applications. But in some years wet soils make spring applications either too late or impossible. By applying nitrogen this fall, you may avoid this problem. Fall applications usually prove satisfactory on

Hints For Homeowners

Have you noticed the change in the air, the crispness and freshness? Fall is here!

Already Mother Nature is starting her most spectacular display of the season as trees and shrubs prepare for a climactic explosion of color to mark the end of another season.

The beautiful colors you will see are caused by pigments which have been in the leaves but which were masked by the more abundant chlorophyll. When the chlorophyll dies, the full color is revealed.

The fall season is the most spectacular of Mother Nature's seasonal displays. In a last effort before winter, all the plant kingdom seems determined to outdo itself in a show of color. The most colorful of all trees in our area is the sugar maple. Its colors range from deep yellow to orange, and red. These trees are easily identified even from a distance by the intensity of their color. Other trees showing good yellow color, but not so deep and intense are the poplars, silver maples, elms and ashes.

Red is a common fall color and is found in a number of different plants. It is deepest in color in the Japanese maple and the roadside sumacs. Burning bush, probably the same one mentioned in the Old Testament; flowering dogwood; red maple and red oak can also be counted on for a good display. The leaves of oak trees often display a deep bronze or rich brown color which persists long into winter.

While you are thinking about trees, why not get some evergreen trees. But topdress next spring on sandy and gravelly soils where leaching commonly occurs.

For detailed information on your wheat fertilizing problems, stop at the county extension office in Tinley Park.

greens to fill that vacant spot in your foundation planting.

There is at least one type of evergreen for almost every landscaping need. Because of the great number of types available, many homeowners buying evergreens have difficulty in deciding what type to purchase. Each of the various types of evergreens have certain characteristics which are of use in making selections.

Yews are generally considered the best kind to plant. They are green the entire year, are particularly resistant to insect and disease attack, and grow well in either sun or shade. Dense, dwarf and spreading yews are excellent as fillers and accents. Hatfield and Hicks yews make very fine hedges, and take timing well.

Junipers or, as they are often known, cedars are the most commonly planted evergreens. However, they need sunlight, and are very susceptible to red spider and bagworm attacks. There are many growth types available, making these evergreens very popular. Andorra, Sergeant and Pfitzer are low growing or spreading types. Kamaert and Kettler red cedars are upright and may get quite tall. All Junipers can be pruned.

Mugo pines are medium sized evergreens, growing about five feet tall, and round or ball-shaped. They do not grow in the shade, and are often used as informal accents.

Firs, pines and spruces are among the larger evergreens. The concolor fir is tall and resembles a blue spruce, but has much softer leaves. White pines are valued for their soft leaves and horizontal branches when they mature. Blue spruces vary in their color, but the varieties morehelm and kostar are quite consistent and are very attractive.

When selecting evergreens, be sure the roots are well balled and wrapped. Have the tree planted as soon as you get it, so that it will have ample time to establish roots before spring.

On Second Thot

By GLENN F. LOGAN

Here we are again folks, back in the studio for another year of television and to judge from the weekly menus published there is something for everyone.

That's it folks, something for everyone, new shows, old shows and re-runs.

All you have to do is keep your electric bill paid and your set in repair and you can tune in on any of the available channels.

There are a great many words written and spoken each year relative to the quality of the fare offered on TV. There are many persons who criticize; there are many persons who praise. That is to be expected.

But there is something that one should keep in mind. So far there is no law on the books that requires any or all of us to watch the stuff. If you live alone you can either turn the set on or leave it turned off. If you have it turned on and fail to find a program you like there is no one to prevent you from turning it off.

If there are more than one person in a household it is not always possible to turn the set off, unless you are prepared to debate. This is especially true in households where there are children.

The best thing to do if there are children is to have more than one set. If this is not possible there are several alternatives--you can toss out the children, toss out the set, leave home, or join the crowd and become an addict too.

Some people, especially those who came up thru the radio years, have taken up defensive reading if they are so situated that they cannot turn the TV set off. Back in radio days there were some programs one didn't care for and in time people built up a resistance against them.

It was something like having an automatic valve attached to one's audio nerves. If one wanted to read or sleep or put his mind on something else all he had to do was have the thot. The automatic valve took over and shut out the sounds of the radio as far as that individual was concerned. This valve was so adjusted, however, that if something came over the air that one wanted to hear his ears picked it up immediately.

In TV sight, as well as the sound, can be distracting if one just sits but if one reads he doesn't see the screen and the old automatic valve will cut out the sound so it is possible for one to be comfortable even with a TV set on.

The only trouble with that is it sometimes leads to arguments. The reader may catch a glimpse of a scene or hear enough words to make him curious so he brakes in on the viewer's time and asks to be informed as to what is going on. Later he may ask if the situation has altered, and still later ask for another bulletin. About then is when the viewer issues an ultimatum:

"Just a moment," she says. "If you are going to read, stick to your reading. If you want to know what is going on in this show, watch it. That is what I am doing and I don't want to be interrupted."

Each year a small segment of the population raises quite a clamor as to what the television industry should do about programming. Telling the other fellow how to run his business is an ancient custom, and pleasurable too in that it helps to becoming depressed by thinking about his own problems.

So as long as some critics have suggestions for TV producers, we might as well put on a critic's hat and get into the act.

We have often wondered why some TV producers haven't turned to the old west as a source of material. It seems to us that one might be able to concoct some sort of a show with cowboys and Indians, dance halls and saloons in it. One might even have a little gun play.

One might even have a sheriff or a marshal in the role of the good guy emerge victor over the bad guy or guys.

Another suggestion is to have detective stories made into plays. A lot of people like whodunits and it is possible they might like to see some of the tales dramatized.

Another idea that might click is variety show with dancers and singers. We also have a suggestion for a series on TV altho it might not go over why not use a hospital as a locale for dramas featuring doctors and nurses in the leading roles?

We think these suggestions are enough but surely some

What People Are Thinking About

What are the American people thinking about? What problems and concerns are foremost in their minds? What, in sum, is the nation's present mood?

U.S. News and World Report decided to seek the answers to such questions as these. A staff team made a grass roots survey throughout the country, testing the public view on the whole range of national affairs. The findings--which will come as something of a surprise to many--are presented in a lengthy article in the magazine's issue of July 29.

The substance of it is found in the opening sentence: "The mood of the American people at this time is undergoing a sharp change." The matters that dominated our thinking not long ago--the danger of war, the Cuban problem, Russia and Khrushchev--have lost at least some of their urgency. In their place are problems that are closer to home.

Foremost among them is the race issue, with all its tragic overtones and undertones, and the fear it brings of a racial conflict. Other concerns involve taxes (primarily state and local--comparatively few expect federal tax reduction) and the problem of Big Government, with all the controls and regulations involved. As U.S. News puts it, "In general, it is local problems, not world affairs, that are concerning Americans most today."

The body of this most informative article consists of quotations from citizens the country over on the subjects that are now uppermost in their minds. Here are some typical findings and excerpts:

There is much sympathy for the drive of Negroes to achieve equal rights. But this brings with it fears. A house painter says, "I think there's going to be a race war." Many think the Negroes, in their campaigns and demonstrations, are pushing too hard. A college student says, "...these demonstrations just build up resentment." On specific civil-rights legislation, as proposed by the President, there is a sharp difference as to whether it is the right answer.

Letters To The Editor

TAKES ISSUE WITH
LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS

In several columns, which have appeared in various newspapers from time to time, there have been certain verbatim declarations by the League of Women Voters. This would indicate that these Chapters of LWV are copying this "Word for Word" material from a common source of propaganda material. Quoting--

"A wide gap between the average Citizen's complacent pride in our democratic form of government and the realization that active, alert and informed Citizens are required to keep our form of government effective."

The League is doubtlessly composed of many good grandmothers, mothers, wives and sisters who are energetically pursuing a course which will consider to be PATRIOTIC. However, it is my fear that they are the victims of a cleverly concealed, diabolic plot. The League admits that they have continuously advocated a foreign policy based upon support of the United Nations.

The foreign policy of the UNITED STATES is, of today, definitely paralyzed, because of the UNITED NATIONS. The UN is controlled by the Soviets, who can always muster the necessary support of so-called Neutrals, to sanction the views of the USSR. Most of the Neutrals are leaning so far to "The Left" that they are Communists in every respect except by name only.

PATRIOTS AND LOYAL AMERICANS cannot possibly support such an organization as The UNITED NATIONS, if they are fully informed. The UN is a huge "Mousetrap" which is baited with man's most desired state of being, that is to live in PEACE. The road to PEACE does not pass through producers should be able to get an idea out of one of them, and it would be fresh and new. Meanwhile, there are a lot of movies one can see on television.

There used to be an old wives saying, "...you'll find trouble in houses where lights burn late."

That may have been true at one time but not anymore. Now when you see lights burning late in a home you can pretty well wager that someone is watching the late, late movie.

or near the portals of The UN. Ladies, it is a certainty that you are correct in your recognition of the "GAP". You are on the right road but you are going in the wrong direction to find PEACE.

The UN Charter is very clear. It is my prayer that you wonderful women will re-read it and study it carefully (without the aid of a Master deceptionist from the UN or the CFR). These men are trained to brainwash and hypnotize anyone who will accept their presence.

The UN was designed by men who would suppress rebellion against tyranny all over the world. A few examples are fresh in our memories, China, Korea, Laos and the "Captive Nations" serve as mute evidence. Castro's Cuba, 90 miles from our shores, is a good example of how much power the UN possesses. The Security Council of the UN prevented the UNITED STATES from enforcing The Monroe Doctrine. As a result, we have a "Festering Cancer" in our Hemisphere which will spread throughout South America and also the Caribbean Islands along with Central America.

The danger signs are clearly visible. It is incomprehensible that a group of intellectuals such as The League of Women Voters could further ignore

On the subject of Presidential popularity, the survey finds that it has slipped somewhat but is still high. Politically, President Kennedy is still out in front, but there is disappointment in his performance as Chief Magistrate. So far, there has been no big popular trend in favor of any particular Republican candidate for 1964.

Most people find that business is good. But there is worry over the effects of automation and unemployment. A Cleveland banker said this: "It's not unemployment that's bugging us, it's 'disemployment'--the disappearance of jobs. There is increasing capital investment, but the total number of jobs is falling off."

The federal government, many think, has become too big, too powerful, too costly. It is doing too much policing, and demanding an excessive amount of record keeping. A tax consultant said, "We're learning that federal aid and federal control go together just like ham and eggs." And there is more and more questioning of the virtues of the federal foreign aid program."

On close-to-home problems, there is a wide range of concern. Taxes constitute one--particularly property taxes. Others are local transportation, the cost and the quality of the schools, juvenile delinquency. Of the last, a small-town newspaper editor suggested a need "...for a sort of moral rearmament program among teenagers."

Finally, there is the question of whether people, as a whole, are really deeply concerned with the great issues of the day. An oil company executive was a doubter: "They seem to be seeking an escape from their concerns by concentrating on everyday living. My friends seem to be buying more cars, enjoying themselves at picnics and parties more than ever before."

Yes, the mood of America apparently is changing. It is as yet an unsettled mood. The profound differences over every issue of consequence before Congress are no doubt, a reflection of that fact.

Old Doctor's Office Will Return To Hinsdale Museum

By popular request, the Hinsdale Health Museum, 40 S. Clay Street, Hinsdale, Illinois, will bring back the loan exhibit "A Doctor's Office A Century Ago." Viewed by many thousands of visitors to the Museum during the summer and fall of 1962, this outstanding exhibit will again be on display in Hinsdale from Oct. 15, 1963 to Feb. 15, 1964.

The exhibit portrays the office of a physician exactly as it was in the mid-nineteenth century. Actually it is a reconstructed one-room log building, housing all of the equipment and appurtenances which were used in the practice of medicine before and during the Civil War. These objects were gathered in the area surrounding the old Ohio River town of Evansville, Ind. This was a project of the Service in Medicine Program of the Medical Department of Mead Johnson Laboratories, thru whose courtesy the exhibit is on loan to Hinsdale.

"Those who inspect the Doctor's Office," states Mrs. Elizabeth Lundy, Director of the Hinsdale Health Museum, "say they have never seen anything more clearly illustrating the progress of medicine during the past hundred years. When they see the primitive surgical instruments and simple drugs of yesterday and realize what a risk it was to fall sick or receive an injury in those days, they feel extremely thankful to live in this more modern age of great scientific progress."

Prepare For Emergency Urges Medical Society

Could you manage a medical emergency if professional medical help was not immediately available?

Because few people can answer "yes" to that question, the Illinois State Medical Society -- in cooperation with the Illinois department of public health--is offering a special television instruction course to all Chicago area citizens beginning Thursday, Oct. 10, on Station WTTW, Channel 11.

The 16-week course is a practical guide for laymen in such vital subjects as bandaging and splinting, treatment of burns and shock, emergency childbirth, protection from radioactive fallout and more.

"People don't believe that a medical emergency will ever happen to them," stated Dr. Max Klinghoffer, Elmhurst, narrator for the TV series and chairman of the Illinois State Medical Society's Disaster Medical Care Committee.

"Yet grim statistics show that emergencies occur more frequently than generally realized," he added. "Last year, more than 28,000 Americans were killed accidentally in their homes and 43,000 more at work. Many of these persons undoubtedly could have survived if trained personnel were immediately available."

Dr. Klinghoffer is chairman of the DuPage County Medical Society's disaster medical care committee and director of the disaster care unit at Memorial hospital in Elmhurst.

Under his directorship, the of drugs, the mortars and pestles, the pill machines and molds, the drug mills and prescription scales, they realize that formerly the doctor was also the pharmacist. The crude surgical tools are doubly impressive when people reflect they were used without benefit of anesthetics.

Of special interest are the devices -- lancets, cupping glasses, and a scarificator -- used in the outmoded therapy of bleeding. The scarificator is a small brass box from which ten razor-sharp lancet points are shot out by the flipping of a spring. This fearsome gadget was pressed against a patient's arm for the purpose of letting blood.

John Foster, one of the Museum staff biology teachers, has made a special study of the historic Doctor's Office and has prepared an illuminating talk on its contents.

The Hinsdale Health Museum, which was opened by The Kettering Family Foundation in 1958, offers scientifically authentic exhibits on the normal human body. It has been visited by many thousands of school children from throughout the Greater Chicago area and beyond as a supplement to their science studies. Other thousands of the general public have toured the Museum in a desire to learn more about themselves, what they are, and how and why they tick.

The museum is open every day in the year with the exception of legal holidays. Hours are from 9 to 5 daily and 1 to 5 Sundays.

Admission is free. Groups are requested to reserve time in advance if they desire a guided lecture tour of the Doctor's Office A Century Ago and/or other exhibits. Write the Hinsdale Health Museum, Hinsdale, Illinois, or call Faculty 5-1900.

Rural 4-H Gain Members Tho Farms Dwindle

Despite the shrinking farm population the number of rural 4-H Club members continues to increase. As a matter of fact, during the last two decades, enrollment of farm boys and girls in 4-H Clubs has more than tripled, according to the Federal Extension Service.

The figures tend to show that the present generation of 4-H'ers is having a greater impact on farming and farm families. One example of how the "learn-by-doing" method improves land and increases yield is the national 4-H field crops award program.

A young farmer who won a top award last year had this to say: "My field crops project made it possible to establish a 72-cow dairy operation on our 280-acre farm." What he learned through 4-H about soil testing, fertilization, weed control and irrigation made his project a success.

Another boy became interested in the marketing of his crops and qualified for a special award that took him to Minneapolis, Minn., one of the key grain marketing centers. Still others develop skills in judging and demonstration.

As one 19-year-old 4-H'er so aptly put it: "The day I joined 4-H, I signed up for an all-around education which I am getting every day."

Incentives to greater efforts and higher education are offered annually to members engaged in a field crops project by Allied Chemical Corporation, Arcadian Products Department, in cooperation with the Extension Service of the land-grant universities and colleges.

Throughout the nation well over a quarter million club members harvest crops which have been part of the prescribed program supervised by extension workers and local club leaders. Among them are an estimated 5,300 medal award winners, and a top-ranking member from 49 states.

The state award winner will be a delegate to the 42nd National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago, Dec. 1-5, with all expenses paid.

The 1963 champions also are eligible to enter their 4-H records in national competition for six $500 college scholarships. Last year's scholarship recipients came from Indiana, Kansas, Massachusetts, North Dakota, Oklahoma and Tennessee.

Nero is said to have been the first bagpipe player.

Rabbuni
(Good Lord)
When I am dying,
How glad I shall be
That the lamp of my life
Has been burn'd out for Thee.
That sorrow has dark'n'd
The pathway I trod,
That thorns--not roses
Were strewn o'er its sod.
That anguish of spirit,
Full often was mine,
Since anguish of spirit,
So often was Thine!
My cherished Rabbuni!
How glad I shall be,
To die with the hope
Of a welcome from Thee.

Navy Sets Annual NROTC Exam Dec. 14

Vice Admiral W. R. SMEDBERG, III, Chief of Naval Personnel, announced today that the 18th annual national competitive examination for the Regular Naval Reserve Officers Training Corps will be given on Dec. 14. Eligible high school seniors and graduates should submit their applications before Nov. 22.

Designed to supplement the officer output of the Naval Academy, the NROTC program makes it possible for a young man to earn a regular commission while studying at the civilian college of his choice from among the 52 colleges with an NROTC Unit.

Area colleges offering an NROTC Program are Northwestern university, Illinois Institute of Technology, Notre Dame university and the University of Illinois at Urbana. All tuition, fees and books are furnished by the Navy, and the student receives a retainer of $50 per month for not more than four years.

During the summers the student goes on interesting training cruises as a midshipman. After successfully completing a four year college course, he is commissioned in the Regular Navy or Marine Corps and goes on active duty as a career officer with the Navy's modern fleets. Immediate challenging assignments to aviation training, nuclear training or submarine training offer varied career opportunities to those graduates who apply and qualify.

High school seniors and graduates who will have reached the 17th but not the 21st anniversary of birth on June 30, 1964 may apply for the NROTC aptitude test. Those who make a qualifying score will be interviewed and given a thorough medical examination early in 1964. From the number of qualified young men remaining in competition, about 2,000 will be selected to attend college next September to prepare for their naval careers.

Application forms are available at local high schools and Navy Recruiting Stations or from the Chief of Naval Personnel, Department of the Navy, Washington 25, D. C.

Shot Shocks, Couples Sue

(CNS) - The village of Evergreen Park and its police chief Walter Ward were sued for $100,000 in Circuit Court this week as a result of a wayward bullet allegedly fired by Ward on October 8, 1961.

The suit was filed on behalf of Dominic and Antonia Altimare, of 4106 W. Hirsh St., Evergreen Park and neighbors Anthony and Mary Lampasano.

According to the suit, Ward fired the bullet into the living room of the Altimare's, while pursuing some boys in the line of duty.

While the bullet missed both families, the suit asks $100,000 in damages for shock caused to the occupants of the room.

700 Miles Of Interstate Highway Nears Completion

Illinois will soon have more than 700 of its 1,588 allotment of Interstate highway mileage open to traffic, Francis S. Lorenz, director of the state department of Public Works and Buildings, announced.

In an address before the Chicago Metropolitan Chapter of the American Public Works Association in the Windermere hotel, Lorenz said that highway engineers are studying means of speeding up completion of the Southwest Expressway, which is part of the Interstate system.

"The quicker we can get the Southwest Expressway completed and open to traffic the more lives we can expect to save," Lorenz said.

"Records show that expressways are many times safer than conventional city streets and highways. Not only do they save lives by providing safer travel but they also save time and money for the motorists using them."

The Southwest Route now under construction extends from Chicago's lake front area to a connection with U. S. Route 66 near Hinsdale. The entire route from the lake front to East St. Louis will carry the Interstate 55 shield when completed.

Lorenz announced that an additional 13 miles of Interstate 80 from Ladd to Princeton opened to traffic on Sept. 30. This provides motorists in the Chicago area a 70 mile stretch of Interstate expressway from a junction with Interstate 55 west of Joliet to Princeton.

Interstate 80 extends from San Francisco to New York, It enters Illinois in the Rock Island and Moline area and exits at a point near Hammond, Ind. Construction between Rock Island-Moline to Annawan has been completed and the 20 mile section between Annawan and Princeton will be completed next year.

Construction of a high level bridge over the DesPlaines river at Joliet on Interstate 80 is underway.

Lorenz said the state expects to complete construction of the Springfield by-pass on Interstate 55 this fall. About six miles of the 15 mile $22 million project have been opened to traffic.

An additional six mile section of Interstate 70 between Altamont and St. Elmo has been opened to traffic. In the East St. Louis area on the same route the expressway was opened to the Veterans bridge crossing of the Mississippi river this summer.

In Southern Illinois, additional mileage on Interstate 57 which extends from Cairo to Chicago is expected to be opened this fall in the West Frankfort area.

On Interstate 74, which extends from Danville to Rock Island-Moline by way of Champaign-Urbana, Bloomington, Peoria and Galesburg, a small section of the highway in Peoria is scheduled to be opened to traffic late in the year.

The state has more than 100 additional miles on the various Interstate routes under construction and in varying stages of completion.

What Industry Looks For In Plant Location Today

It takes more than fancy brochures and hucksterism to be successful in attracting new industry to a locality. Heightened competition makes it more essential than ever that Illinois communities have something worthwhile to offer to prospective industry.

Executives making plant location decisions are faced with the job of finding the particular site which will provide their company with the most profitable environment for their operations. Consequently, leaders of local industrial development efforts must become well informed on what present day industry finds essential and be prepared to provide it.

Particularly significant factors include labor (skills, wages, fringe benefits, absenteeism, etc.), transportation costs and service, availability and cost of raw materials or semi-finished goods, taxes, proximity to markets served, attitude of community toward industry and suitable sites and buildings.

The degree of importance assigned to specific factors will vary from industry to industry. For example, highly automated firms may not be quite as concerned as others about labor rates and producers of light weight products would not place as much emphasis on shipping costs as those producing bulky, heavy items.

This recent statement by Raymond J. Wilcox, President, Motor Wheel Corporation provides further insight into what industry looks for today in a plant location: "We were looking for a location which would put us in a position to better serve our customers who manufacture agricultural and industrial equipment. In addition, we wanted to build in a city with good facilities and with potential employees of a high caliber."

"After visiting many cities, we found that Mendota best filled all our needs. The city is near the geographic center of our agricultural and industrial wheel market. And the cooperation and help which we have received from the city and all of the people with whom we have had contact has been most gratifying. Motor Wheel looks forward to becoming a member of this fine, progressive community."

These examples of situations which have come to my attention recently will provide an indication of the range of community factors considered essential: --One community nearly lost a new plant which now employs 700 people because assurances could not be given to the firm's executives that the local water utility would be expanded sufficiently to provide service to the plant.

--After announcing plans to locate in a small mid-state community some months ago, the head of a "blue chip" manufacturer actually changed his mind recently after encountering a lack of cooperation on the part of city officials in working out zoning and water main extension problems.

--Representatives of another firm decided against giving a community further consideration when it was discovered that the locality had a long record of jurisdictional disputes. --One company which had been located in a Northern Illinois community recently left that locality entirely, along with 250 jobs, when unreasonable local zoning regulations prevented its expansion.

Industrialists are also interested in finding a plant community which will be a good place for their families to make their homes. Here is what one noted Illinois industrial development authority said in response to a question posed by the Illinois State Chamber:

"The major weakness of the industrial development programs of local community groups is that they fail to realize that to have effective and sound industrial development they must first have community improvement. Too many of our communities are vegetating."

In short, any community not prepared to provide an attractive, profitable environment for new industry is wasting its time by setting up an industrial promotion program. It is doomed to failure from the start.

Byrnes, McClellan Will Address Illinois C.of C.

Two controversial legislative leaders currently making news in Washington are among the 22 national and state business and governmental figures scheduled to address the 45th annual meeting of the Illinois State Chamber of Commerce, Oct. 31 and Nov. 1, in the Palmer House.

They are Rep. John W. Byrnes (R-Wis.), ranking Republican member of the house ways and means committee, who has been spearheading opposition to the Administration's tax cut program, and Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.), who recently opened congressional investigation into the notorious "cosa nostra" of organized crime.

Rep. Byrnes will discuss "Taxes, Spending, Debt -- Where Do We Go From Here?" at the Thursday luncheon. Addressing the Friday luncheon, Sen. McClellan will offer some "Legislative Answers to Union Power."

Lynn A. Townsend, president of Chrysler Corporation, who, more than anyone else is responsible for the current resurgence of his company, will address the annual banquet on Friday evening, climaxing the two-day meeting.

An address by Henry A. Barnes, commissioner of traffic for New York City, will highlight Thursday evening's dinner saluting local chamber of commerce officials. His topic: "Traffic Problems --

Can They be Solved?"

An analysis of labor relations and social security problems will headline the first of a trio of symposia of general interest to the business community. Participating in this Thursday afternoon session will be these experts:

Sen. Jack Miller (R-Iowa); Samuel C. Bernstein, Illinois Employment security coordinator; Nelson G. Ball, director of personnel of Goodyear domestic operations; and W. Boyd Owen, vice president for personnel administration, Owens-Illinois Glass Co.

State spending and taxation problems, higher education and the nation's elementary educational system will come under discussion at a second symposium on Friday morning, Nov. 1.

An analysis of 1964 business prospects will highlight the final symposium on Friday afternoon, keynoted by Dr. Kenneth McFarland of General Motors.

The Annual Meeting will open with a business meeting for members Thursday, Oct. 31, at which directors for the coming year will be elected. Officers will be chosen at the new board's first meeting that afternoon.

The Cadet Glee Club of the United States Military Academy will entertain at the annual banquet. The West Pointers will be in Chicago to appear the following day (Nov. 2) at the Army-Air Force Academy football clash in Soldier Field.

GERTA LYNN SCHUESSLER

Orland Park Girl To Wed

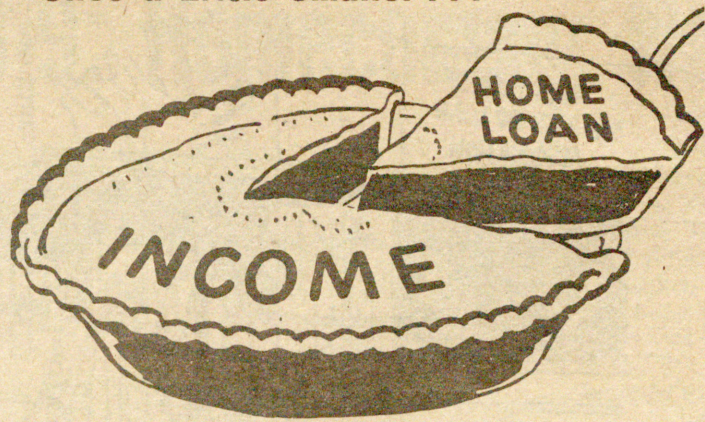

Dr. and Mrs. Elmer W. Schuessler of 15060 Hale Drive, Orland Park, are announcing the engagement of their daughter Gerta Lynn to Clifford C. Barnett, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Barnett of Hobart, Indiana.

The prospective bride is a graduate of Evergreen Park high school and holds a degree in education from Valparaiso university, Valparaiso, Indiana. She is presently teaching at Hobart. Her fiancé has served four years with the Naval Air Force and is a senior at Valparaiso university and a member of Theta Chi fraternity.

The wedding is planned for the pre-Christmas season. Rev. Deane Schuessler, missionary from Japan and a cousin of the bride, will perform the ceremony at Trinity Lutheran church, Tinley Park.

PARK FOREST SAVINGS and LOAN ASSOCIATION

WHERE YOUR MONEY G-R-O-W-S
WITH MAXIMUM SAFETY

Because of its

REMARKABLE GROWTH THROUGH STABILITY.....

In two short years the Park Forest Savings and Loan Association has achieved assets of $6,000,000. This is due to a rigid adherence to a fundamental policy of sound, conservative investments.

ULTRA-CONSERVATIVE LOANS POLICY.....

Over 80% of our loans are committed to single family dwellings in the South Suburban area ... Painstakingly scrutinized, honestly and expertly appraised and issued only within a sphere of least possible risk by a Board of cautious, highly qualified Loan Officers.

MANAGEMENT BY QUALIFIED BUSINESS LEADERS.....

Your insured savings are prudently and guardedly supervised by a Board of Directors representing a cross-section of responsible business and professional men*...and managed by trained and highly experienced officers. This Board is PRIMARILY dedicated to providing a safe haven for your savings dollar.

HIGH EARNINGS BASED UPON SAFETY.....

The SECONDARY function of the Board is channeling your savings into areas of investment that permit your savings to grow with the least possible risk in a climate of complete safety. In addition you enjoy an above average current return of 4 1/2% per annum... Your savings are of course insured up to $10,000 by the Federal Savings and Loan Insurance Corp., an agency of the Federal Government.

OUR FIRST OBLIGATION IS TO OUR DEPOSITORS.....

We assure you that your savings will not only g-r-o-w with safety in the Park Forest Savings and Association but you will find a spirit of friendliness and A DESIRE TO SERVE YOU among our strong assets.
